MobileAsset/Labeler v7: Labeler is prompting for an activation code.

Jason Whitmer - 2017-04-10 - in Version 7

When upgrading or installing MobileAsset on a machine that has InventoryControl v6 or older also installed, Labeler may prompt to enter an activation key for Labeler v7. This occurs due to the method used to validate the license key for Labeler v7. It will check the InventoryControl key first, and not recognize the older version key.

If this occurs, the user will need to be provided with a new, valid activation key for Wasp Labeler v7.

If the prompt does not accept the key, it can be manually entered into the registry in HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\SOFTWARE\Wow6432Node\Wasp Technologies\Wasp Labeler V7\Options.* You will need to create a New String Value named License for the key.

Warning: Only users who are familiar with the Registery should access and edit it. Incorrectly changing items in the Registry may disable access to Wasp applications.*
